Hingham Day

Old Sturbridge Village

OLD STURBRIDGE VILLAGE'S newest exhibit, Bucket Town: Four Centuries of Toymaking and Coopering in Hingham, opens June 21!

Hingham, Massachusetts was known as the woodenware capital of the world for more than 300 years. In the 18th century, as their fame spread, Hingham coopers began producing miniatures as keepsakes for tourists and became the first community of professional toymakers in the country.

Join us on June 21, 2014 for Hingham Day at the Village. All Hingham residents with proof of residency receive a reduced admission rate of $5 per person. This offer is good for up to five guests on that date.

Residents of Hingham, Massachusetts with proof of residency will also receive 50% off new Membership purchases during the run of the exhibit—June 21 through January 18, 2015.
